From the Principal

What an enjoyable term we have had. Students have finished off their Genius hour research and Scratch projects this term. They are entering individual woven sculptures that they have worked hard on this term in the Willowtree Sculpture Garden 2017 Exhibition. This work will be available for viewing and purchasing from Willowtree Sculpture Garden located in Laggan 11-19th November.

It has been a delight to finish off the term with our Book Week assembly. Well done to all the students who received awards. The parade saw many creative ideas and costumes presented. Laggan Preschool and Laggan PS students enjoyed post assembly activities and afternoon tea with parents and family.

A big thank you goes out to Garth Prentice from the Goulburn Regional Conservatorium of Music who travelled out to teach the children percussion, drumming and how to read music this term. Our students were focused and enthusiastic and performed a catchy number for our assembly audience.

The school kitchen and garden program has produced some amazing food this term. Cook books have been a great seller at the Laggan Markets. Paul Mills has assisted in inspiring future chefs and taught valuable kitchen skills to the students. The garden is being prepared for next terms warmer weather by the students and Mr Tetley. The students have planted seeds and have been nurturing these even through the sleet and snow ready for planting next term.

Class teachers Jenny Evans and Kiera Casey will be working one day per week each in the classroom during term 4 to support students learning.

The staff and I would like to wish students, parents and community members a safe and relaxing break. We'll see you all refreshed for a busy and productive term in two weeks.
